Report of the program

On July 4, 2020, the Central Library and IQAC of Basanti Devi College hosted a webinar titled “Relevance of Online Teaching & Role of Digital Library in Present Scenario.” The event, attended by 100 participants including students, faculty, and educational professionals, explored the significance of online education and digital libraries in the current academic environment.

The webinar featured two prominent experts in the field. Prof. (Dr.) Debasri Banerjee from the Department of Education at the University of Calcutta commenced the session with a comprehensive discussion on the relevance of online teaching. Dr. Banerjee addressed the evolution of online education, its advantages, and challenges, and shared strategies for enhancing the effectiveness of virtual learning environments. She highlighted best practices for engaging students and maintaining educational standards in an online format.

Following Dr. Banerjee, Prof. (Dr.) Partha S. Mukhopadhyay from the Department of Library & Information Science at Kalyani University presented on the role of digital libraries. Prof. Mukhopadhyay discussed the essential functions of digital libraries, including resource accessibility, digital archiving, and the integration of technology to support research and learning. He also explored the impact of digital libraries on academic growth and their potential to bridge gaps in information access.

The webinar was well-received for its relevant and timely content. Participants appreciated the expert insights provided by the speakers, which offered a deeper understanding of both online teaching methodologies and the evolving role of digital libraries in education.
